Adult Learners Institute Winter/Spring Classes, 2012

Many great courses are scheduled beginning February through May. A scholarship fund is available for those needing assistance with registration fees.

Based in Chelsea, Michigan, the Adult Learners Institute [ALI] provides a diverse selection of quality community-based learning experiences and camaraderie for adults. ALI is a nonprofit Lifelong Learning Institute [LLI] affiliated with Elderhostel Institute Network [EIN], a group of 320 similar organizations.

ALI is always looking for additional volunteers to help fulfill its mission. For example, planning the curriculum, finance committee, editing catalog, processing registration forms, returning phone messages, class and audio/visual assistants.

For more information call 734-433-1000, ext. 7358, to leave a message, or see our website at www.adultlearnersinstitute.org.

Adult Learners Institute courses are conducted in cooperation with Washtenaw Community College.

PLEASE NOTE: ALI classes are cancelled when Chelsea District Schools are closed due to inclement weather [Call 734-433-2275, Ext. 3, for information].

A Different Mark Twain

Paul Terpstra

May 8, 15 and 22 (three Tuesdays)

1:00 to 3:00 p.m.

Chelsea Senior Center, 512 E. Washington St., Chelsea, MI, Building 100

In contrast to the serious issue of slavery in Huck Finn, Mark Twain takes a more light-hearted approach to his observation of the human condition in Tom Sawyer. He places emphasis on events in which adults may look back and remember some of the joys and innocence of their own childhood; however he continues to criticize in a satirical manner institutionalized religion and other social institutions.

Paul Terpstra, who taught Shakespeare, Lord of the Flies, The Great Gatsby, Huck Finn and Six Short Stories, is returning to teach Tom Sawyer. Paul has a Bachelor's degree in English and Psychology from Hope College and a Master's in Guidance and Counseling from Eastern Michigan University. He taught English and Psychology at Chelsea High School for 36½ years. Paul retired in 2005 and now tutors students for the ACT, makes presentations to student teachers, and is a substitute lay preacher.

Astronomy

Charlie Taylor

March 8, 15 and 22 (three Thursdays)

1:00 to 3:00 p.m.

CRC Dancey Auditorium, Chelsea Retirement Community, 805 W. Middle, Chelsea, MI

People have been looking at the stars and planets since before recorded history. Now, in the 21st Century, scientists have very clear ideas about what the planets, stars, our sun, comets, galaxies, nebulas and more exotic objects in the sky are made of and how they "work". This class will explore elementary astronomy in ordinary language with lots of questions, answers and discussions. It will cover earth, our solar system, stars like our own sun and current ideas about how these huge objects formed and got where they are now.

Charlie Taylor has written many scientific journal papers and presented at research forums in neuroscience. Charlie previously worked as an NIH postdoctoral fellow, received his Ph.D. from the University of California, Berkeley, and a BS degree from the University of Texas. He has 25 years experience studying medicines for diseases such as epilepsy, pain, anxiety, and bipolar disorder.

Baseball: Facts, Fiction and Memorabilia

Erik Pedersen

April 2 (one Monday) 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.
*Silver Maples, 100 Silver Maples Drive,
Chelsea MI*

How did baseball evolve from a game played by milkmaids in the late 1500's to the popular summer pastime we now enjoy?

Names, equipment, tales, publications and memorabilia will be used to tell the story.

Erik Pedersen is originally from Chicago, IL. Erik received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Eastern Michigan University. He taught at Eastern Michigan University for 37 years in the Teacher Preparation Program in the Department of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance. During his 37 years at the university, he taught over 40 different courses. Areas of specialization included curriculum, methods, international relations, lifetime wellness and fitness, and history. His interest in the history of sport and the professional contributions of former EMU Faculty in the HPERD Department resulted in numerous publications and presentations. An extensive sport artifact collection eventually evolved from his interest in sport history.

China

Ed Riske

March 19 (one Monday) 1:00 to 3:00 p.m.
*Chelsea Senior Center, 512 E. Washington
St., Chelsea, MI, Building 100*

Note: This is a free class, but prior registration is required.

In May of 2008, Ed and Karin Riske traveled to China. Highlights of their trip included the major cities of Shanghai and Beijing. The western areas of Urumqi, Kashgar, and Turpan, on the old Silk Road, were also highlights, along with Xian and the Terracotta Warriors.

Ed Riske has been taking photographs since high school and was photo editor for his college newspaper and yearbook. Over the years, he has attended many classes and seminars on photography.

Container Gardens: Vegetables and Herbs

Charlene Harris

April 24 (one Tuesday) 10 a.m. to 12 noon
*Chelsea Senior Center, 512 E. Washington
Street, Chelsea, MI, Building 100, Room 111*

Container gardening is easy and fun.

Charlene will lead you through some basic steps to ensure your veggies and herbs are healthy and plentiful. The key to successful container gardening begins with the proper soil mix, fertilizing and watering. Containers should be large enough to support root growth and development to produce healthy herbs and veggies. She will share a few tips to make it easy and fun. There's nothing quite like walking outside to clip a few fresh herbs for cooking or bite into a tomato that you just picked. Charlene will demonstrate how to plant different containers. At the end of the class, a drawing will be held for Charlene's creations.

Charlene Harris is an avid gardener who loves to have her hands in the soil. She is a horticulturalist and lecturer and has been teaching a variety of gardening classes over the past 30 years throughout Michigan. Charlene and her husband moved to the Chelsea area 15 years ago, and they enjoy growing a wide range of plants on over two acres. They have gardened together since they met in Ann Arbor in the 1970's.

Charlene says "growing plants is like raising children, they become part of your life."

Estate Planning

Elisha and Mariah Fink

April 11 (one Wednesday)
10 a.m. to 12 noon

*The Cedars of Dexter Clubhouse, 411
Cedars Lane, Dexter, MI*

This course will be a basic presentation of estate planning, including wills, trusts, powers of attorney, patient advocate designation, and lady bird deeds.

Elisha and Mariah Fink are residents of Dexter. Elisha has been practicing law for 12 years and Mariah for 1½ years. Both attorneys have experience in estate planning; Fink Law is a general practice law firm. In their law practice, Elisha and Mariah emphasize helping individuals and local businesses .

Explaining the Science of Climate Change

Peter Sinclair

March 26 (one Monday), 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.
*Chelsea District Library, 221 S. Main St.,
Chelsea, MI*

Note: This is a free class, but prior registration is required.

Peter Sinclair's mission is to bring clarity to the complicated issue of climate change. His series of YouTube videos aim to separate facts from misinformation in his distinctive style, which is equal parts Daily Show delivery and An Inconvenient Truth's expertise. No issue will have a greater impact on the new century than the decisions we make on energy and the impact of global climate change. This presentation makes the critical points dramatically clear and immediate.

Peter Sinclair is a long time advocate of environmental awareness and energy alternatives. An award-winning graphic artist and animator, Sinclair's cartoons and illustrations have appeared in newspapers throughout the world, including the New York Times. His graphics are updated constantly using the latest data from NASA and other organizations. Combined with his 30+ years of expertise on environment issues and his good-humored, informal style, they make for a presentation not to be missed.

Geology and Field Trip

Steve Daut

March 14, 21, 28 (three Wednesdays)
6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

*Triplett Building, Chelsea Retirement
Community, 809 W. Middle, Chelsea, MI*
Optional Field Trip

April 14 (one Saturday) 1:00 to 3:00 p.m.
Meet at Triplett to carpool.

Note: Some of the glacial sites may be seen from the car, but others will require the ability to walk on rough terrain.

This survey course in geology starts with basic principles and continues with a discussion of systems viewed through the dynamic sweep of geologic time. Topics include gravitational forces, magnetism, tectonics and glaciers. Includes an optional field trip to the Waterloo Recreation Area to look at glacial formations.

Steve Daut earned his Master's degree in geology from the University of Iowa and went on to a 20-year career in geology and geophysics, first in oil and then in the environment industry. He has taught geology and geophysical courses for the American Association of Geologists, the U.S. Bureau of Land Management and Jackson Community College. He has developed a brochure on the glacial geology of Waterloo Recreation Area, which will be the basis for the field trip.

Historic Theaters and Prisons

Grace Shackman (presented in cooperation with Washtenaw Community College).

May 2, 9, 16 and 23 (four Wednesdays)
1:00 to 3:00 p.m.

*The Cedars of Dexter Clubhouse, 411
Cedars Lane, Dexter, MI*

Learn about the history of area movie theaters ranging from golden age movie palaces to small town cinemas, in lectures, with visits to two movie palaces in Ann Arbor (The Michigan and The State), and one in Jackson (The Michigan). Staying with the arts, we will also see how the Jackson prison was turned into the Armory Arts Center and study the background of prisons and jails from the state's earliest days. The class will meet four times, two classroom sessions for discussion and lectures, and two field trips.

Full participation requires the ability to take a two hour walking tour. (If needed, bring a collapsible stool or walking stick.)

Note: Participants will be expected to arrange their own transport or car pools to the sites included in the trip.

Grace Shackman is a history columnist for the Ann Arbor Observer, the Community Observer, and the Old West Side News. Grace is also the author of four books: Ann Arbor in the 19th Century, Ann Arbor in the 20th Century, Ann Arbor Observed, and Webster: A Time, A Place, A People. From 1985 to 1988 she was a staff writer for the Chelsea Standard/Dexter Leader.

How to Feed the World

Catherine Badgley

*May 1 (one Tuesday) 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.
Silver Maples, 100 Silver Maples Drive,
Chelsea, MI*

This course will present current crises and opportunities in the food system from the local to the global scales. The course will consist of lecture and discussion about transforming the current food system into a more sustainable future.

Catherine Badgley is on the faculty of the Department of Ecology and Evolutionary Biology at the University of Michigan. Her research is about the ecology and paleoecology of mammals, and about sustainable agriculture.

Journeys Through Western Civilization: Going for Baroque

Nancy Nilsson (presented in cooperation with Washtenaw Community College)
*Silver Maples, 100 Silver Maples Drive,
Chelsea, MI*

Session 1: February 10, 17, 24 and March 9 (four Fridays) 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Session 2: March 16, 23, 30 and April 6 (four Fridays) 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Note: You may take either session, or both.

Art historian, Nancy Nilsson, surveys the Baroque period (1600-1715), an exciting and dynamic time for the western world. From Rubens in Flanders to Rembrandt, Hals and Vermeer in Holland, from Bernini's Rome to Louis XIV's Versailles, the course will sample the visual arts of this extraordinary period.

Nancy Booth Nilsson earned her undergraduate degrees in art history from the University of Michigan, and has been teaching the arts and humanities for nearly 40 years. Her diverse audiences range from high school, undergraduate and graduate students, to senior citizens, church groups and business organizations.

Long Live the Queen: A Film Study of the House of Windsor

Susan Nenadic (presented in cooperation with Washtenaw Community College).

March 5, 12, 19 and 26 (four Mondays),
1:00 to 4:00 p.m.

*CRC Dancey Auditorium, Chelsea
Retirement Community, 805 W. Middle,
Chelsea, MI*

In celebration of Queen Elizabeth's 2012 Diamond Jubilee, celebrating sixty years as monarch, we will examine the House of Windsor through film. Beginning with Elizabeth's great-grandmother, Victoria, the class will view and discuss one movie per week. The films will be Young Victoria, The Lost Prince, The King's Speech, and The Queen for their historical accuracy and artistic presentation.

Susan Nenadic has degrees in History and English and taught at Saline High School before retiring in 2004. She became interested in local history and gives talks and presentations in Michigan.

Organize Your Life 101

Deborah Mantel

March 6 and 13 (two Tuesdays)
1:00 to 3:00 p.m.

*The Pines Community Room, 325 Wilkinson
Street, Chelsea, MI*

Could you use some help in getting more organized? If so, this is the class for you. Professional organizer, Deb Mantel, will help you gain a better understanding of how to organize your life. Deb is the owner of Spaces with Soul and is a member of the National Association of Professional Organizers. Whether you are overwhelmed and not sure where to begin, or you just need a few ideas to move to the next level, you will benefit from the ideas and information presented in this two-part course. Learn how to overcome the obstacles that keep you from moving forward, gain the knowledge and skills to organize your home and time, and understand how to maintain that organization for a more peaceful and productive life.

Deb Mantel loves organizing anything! She's had an eye for order since she was young. She can walk into a room filled with nothing but chaos and see nothing but potential beauty and calm. She has seen the freedom and renewed energy that comes from getting one's things in order—clearing out the unnecessary, unimportant, unflattering stuff, to make room for what renews, restores, and refocuses. She started her own professional organizing company in 2007 helping clients create space with SOUL (Simple, Organized, Uncluttered, Living).

Pakistan and the Arab Spring

Elisabeth Thoburn (presented in cooperation with Washtenaw Community College)

April 4, 11, 18 and 25 (four Wednesdays)
6:00 to 8:00 p.m.

Silver Maples, 100 Silver Maples Drive, Chelsea, MI

This course will address cultural, religious, artistic, and political issues associated with several countries in the Middle East, including Pakistan, Egypt, Iran, Israel and the Palestinian territories.

Elisabeth Thoburn holds a double Master's degree in Eastern and Western History of Art from the University of Michigan. Since 1994 she has been teaching art history and humanities classes at Washtenaw Community College. For the last 25 years she has traveled in the Middle East, Europe, China and South America. She has given various public talks on subjects ranging from the Middle East to the Medici, the Aztecs to the fall of the Berlin Wall.

Regional Cuisine with Chef Shawn

Shawn Lenhardt

Feb 15, 22 and 29 (three Wednesdays)
2:00 to 4:00 p.m.

The Cedars of Dexter Model Kitchen, 401 Cedars Lane, Dexter MI

Note: This class is limited to 10 persons.

Chef Shawn will take you around the globe sampling a variety of cuisines. He will talk about the flavors, ingredients, cooking methods and seasonings used by the people of the area he is featuring. We will taste different ingredients from their raw state and learn how to choose the proper cooking method. Chef Shawn will prepare variations of classical dishes, and samples will be available.

Shawn Lenhardt got his start in the restaurant business 15 years ago. His first job was as dishwasher at a country club in Granger, Indiana, but he soon turned his attention to the kitchen. He received his formal education from Johnson & Wales University in Charleston, South Carolina. He has worked in private clubs, hotels, restaurants and long term care. He has worked with many talented chefs throughout the Midwest and southern states, learning different regional cuisines and ingredients.

Spring Wildlife and Wildflowers

Tom Hodgson

April 26 (one Thursday),
10:00 a.m. to 12 noon

Lecture will be at The Cedars of Dexter Clubhouse, 411 Cedars Lane, Dexter MI

Note: Optional Field Trip, May 3 (one Thursday, 1:00 to 3:00 p.m.)

Meet at Nan Weston Preserve, 16259 Easudes Road, Sharon Township (the field trip is not handicap accessible.)

The class will learn about the many species of woodland wildflowers that bloom in the spring and the interesting wildlife that frequent the woodlands. The class will include a power point presentation and a field trip to nearby Nan Weston Preserve, one of the best areas for spring wildflowers in Washtenaw County.

Tom Hodgson is a retired environmental educator/naturalist with a lifelong interest in natural history, and the flora and fauna of Michigan and beyond.

Severe Weather: How Do You Know When "The Sky is Falling"?

David Mastie

May 4 (one Friday) 1:00 to 3:00 p.m.

Triplett Building, Chelsea Retirement Community, 809 W. Middle, Chelsea, MI

Here's another close look at severe weather, once again including some hands-on activities. Many of you who attended the first ALI weather program asked for more—with an emphasis on hazardous weather. We will examine the weather phenomena associated with colliding air masses, resulting fronts, and stirring highs and lows directed by the jet stream.

David Mastie retired several years ago as an earth science teacher in the Ann Arbor Schools, but hasn't lost his non-stop energy and enthusiasm. He also is a resource person for the American Meteorological Society.

The Art of Writing: Fiction and Non-Fiction

Cynthia Furlong Reynolds

February 9 and 23, March 8
(three Thursdays)

1:00 to 3:00 p.m.

Crippen Building, Chelsea Retirement Community, 725 W. Middle Street, Chelsea

Do you have a great story idea - fiction or non-fiction, but you don't know how to begin to write? Do you feel swamped with materials and ideas and don't know how to organize them and structure a story? When you break a writing project into its component parts, the job of writing becomes an exciting adventure, not a daunting task. Whether you are writing fiction or non-fiction, building a story is like building a house. Writers, like architects, need to lay a strong foundation; then, as they proceed to write, they refer to blueprints that ask and answer all the right questions and offer a roadmap to the successful completion of our project. We'll discuss how to choose an appropriate structure for your building blocks, how to begin writing, and how to complete an intriguing marketable story.

Cynthia Furlong Reynolds has written a dozen children's books, a chapter book series for elementary students, several novels, six histories, and a writing textbook. She has won two Michigan Notable Book Awards for Our Hometown (a history of Chelsea) and JIFFY: A Family Tradition. She frequently works with students of all ages on writing projects within schools, and she offers Teachers as Writers workshops for faculty members.

They Can Only be Seen at Night

Charlie Nielsen

April 26 (one Thursday) 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.
Triplett Building, Chelsea Retirement Community, 809 W. Middle, Chelsea, MI
Charlie will show you how to observe the night sky and the rewards from doing so. Learn about what you can see with just your eyes, including the moon, stars, planets and more. Move on to what can be seen with binoculars and small telescopes, learn about how your eyes work and how to use them more effectively at night. Take a look at light pollution and the weather, how it affects us, and what we can do about it. Weather permitting, members of the University Lowbrow Astronomers will set up telescopes outside and show many of the objects discussed.

Charlie Nielsen is a long time amateur astronomer and President of the University Lowbrow Astronomers, a large local astronomy club. Charlie has given many talks on astronomy, from elementary school classrooms to public lectures at the University of Michigan.

U.S. Grant's Civil War: The Western Theater

John Gibney (presented in cooperation with Washtenaw Community College)

April 16, 23, 30 and May 7, 14 and 21 (six Mondays), 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Triplett Building, Chelsea Retirement Community, 809 W. Middle St., Chelsea, MI
Grant's unique background, his string of famous battles, his political struggles, and gracious victory over Robert E. Lee will be at the heart of the course.

John Gibney is the former Director of the Monroe Historical Museum and the River Raisin National Battlefield. He is also an instructor in the Historic Preservation Program at Eastern Michigan University. He is one of the State of Michigan's official Civil War History partners for the Sesquicentennial of the Civil War, and is involved with the filming of the PBS Series, Michigan Experience's Civil War.

What's All This School Testing About?

Marge Mastie

February 28 (one Tuesday) 1:00 to 3:00 p.m.

Triplett Building, Chelsea Retirement Community, 809 W. Middle, Chelsea, MI
If you are following the news these days, you know that the tests given to our children in school have proliferated. The uses of these assessments are frequently more political than helpful to the learning process. An overview of some of the "biggies", including MEAP, MME, ACT, SDAT, MI-Access, ELPA, GED and ASVAB will include answers to: What are these tests? Who uses them? What were they built for and how are they used now? Why do politicians care? Why should the rest of us worry about that? What are some better ways of monitoring student learning?

Marge Mastie retired from public education after a successful career as a nationally recognized expert on assessment and its impact on practitioners and examinees. She has served as a consultant and/or advisor to each of the testing programs listed above and continues to do limited consulting with some of them. Marge continuously fought for wisdom, integrity, and caution in all uses of assessment in the schools of Washtenaw County.
